DESERT FISH HABITAT
PARTNERSHIP

Conserving
DESERT FISHES & HABITATS

Protect. Restore. Enhance.

Desert Fish Habitat Partnership conserves native desert fish by protecting, restoring, and enhancing their habitats. Our partnership engages state and tribal fish and wildlife agencies, federal resource agencies, research and private organizations, and interested individuals.

WHY WE WORK

Conservation of aquatic resources is a vital issue facing people and fish that share our limited waters of the west. Thirty percent of U.S. threatened and endangered fishes occur in the arid Southwest desert, where habitat loss is a primary threat to survival of these species.

RESTORATION PROJECTS

Desert Fish Habitat Partnership funds on-the-ground projects that work to protect and restore healthy aquatic ecosystems.

Projects such as riparian plantings, livestock fencing, and fish passage remedy streambank erosion, poor water quality, and barriers between fish populations. Some projects restore springs and create pool refuges suitable for desert fishes and a broad natural diversity of other native aquatic species. Visit our website to learn about our projects and continuing progress.
